The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure, or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest of its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Write mentioning reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Our Pay.

When the day's work is ended, for good or ill, And the last rays of light disappear, When the toiler has gotten of labor his fill, And the light comes at last with dawn's cheer, Say, what is the pay for the burdens we've borne, Thro' the dust and heat of the day, The sorrow, injustice, unmerited scorn, And heart's hunger, what is the pay?

The day has been long, arduous and heavy the load, And our feet were oft bruised on the way, As we labored and toiled like an ox, "neath the goad, And we're anxious to know what's the pay. Our farmer the set of the sun, And hope's poles for flight in our breast, We're awaiting the wages our labor has gained, Can ye offer us nothing but rest? Have we labored like slaves thro' the heat of the day, The weakest as well as the best, To be told when we hold our hands out for pay, That ye've nothing to promise but rest? Was it for this we went to life, Endured all in smallness and pain, And served out our sentence 'midst bitterest strife?

For the pleasure of resting again? Go to! for the laborer is done, There are joys most abundant for all we endure, The hopes that seem blighted, the dreams we distrust, Are awaiting fulfilled, everyone, The friends we have mourned for "as dust out of dust."

We shall greet when the day's work is done, The voices long silent we yearn to hear, Avoiced joys long vanished from view, And heart's hunger, the distant or near, Awaiting for me and for you, "Thro' the weary," but who could feel freed?

"When the burden has fallen away? 'Ye shall be satisfied," we were promised when hired, Oh, the laborer's sure of his pay.

BREEDING POULTRY.

A Profitable Business When Intelligently Conducted.

Poultry keeping and breeding pay well for the time, thought and study given them, and any one that likes the well off it, says V. M. Couch in Poultry Advocate. But there are those who think they can get their stock, fix up a nice house and then sit down and have the hens do the rest. This class will fail and had better keep out of the business in the first place. For this northern climate the first requirement is a yard, dry house. Then come cleanliness and regularity in feeding and care.

There is little danger of a hen laying on too much fat when she is producing eggs any more than there is of a cow when giving milk. When hens are taking their vacation or being neglected is the time when they get out of condition by too much feed.

If you feed meat to the fowls be sure that it is fresh and untainted. Diseased or tainted meat is dangerous and will very likely cause disorder and diseases in the flock. I have found that the cheapest and best food for poultry in the form of meat is fresh cut bone and meat. Given at 3 cents a pound it is an economical feed, and it is rarely that it costs that much, and in many localities it may be had for nothing. But when you get it from the butcher, even if it costs 3 cents a pound, examine it carefully to see that there are no tainted pieces in the lot. I believe that one great trouble in feeding meat has been that many overdo the matter. They feed too much, and this practice will most surely result in disease and other bad results. Avoid scraps and meat meal of poor quality.

Thoughts for Each Day.

Friday. This day is yours; your work is yours; The odds are not who pays your hire, The thing accomplished—that endures, If it be what the day requires.

Saturday. Any man who is capable of thinking real thoughts never gets lonesome.

Sunday. His shield and his love are around me, All dangers to safely withstand, What harm shall ever befall me? The Father holdeth my hand!

Monday. Success comes to the man who can adapt himself quickly to unexpected conditions.

Tuesday. You can't slip good manners on like a cloak.

Wednesday. The man who pays his little bills as fast as they come in, Is pretty sure before he dies The world's regard to win. So, when your little bills come in, Just pay them the best you can. They won't grow any smaller. In a week or month's delay.

Thursday. Shut your eyes and you may dream of the dandelion's gleam. Where the careless hand of springtime has been spilling all its gold, While the meadows over night-fall aside the wintry light, And its carpet smooth as velvet is in fairy hands unrolled. Then we'll know the tang and tingle of the blossom scents that mingle, And we'll taste the joys of living in the wondrous May day's dawn. For we're swinging to the wiles of the singing and the smiles, To the brightness of springtime—just a little farther on.

Fashion decrees that the ladies shall wear short sleeves this coming season, only the upper portion of the arm being covered. This arrangement will make it mighty convenient for the mosquitoes at summer resorts, as they will not be obliged to hunt up the holes in the peek-a-bow waists when they desire to bite the summer girl.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

REACH THE SPOT.

To cure an aching back, The pains of rheumatism, The tired-out feelings, You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2525 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says: "For many years I had kidney trouble, and was such a severe pain through my loins and limbs that I could not stoop or straighten up without great pain, had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest at night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I had all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1893, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-McClellan Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale at all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

Mainspring of Life

No One Can be Strong With a Weak Stomach. Noyes Drug Store Tells How it May be Strengthened.

The stomach is the mainspring of life. When it is strong and acts perfectly, then the whole system is right, assimilation is perfect, and body and brain are thoroughly nourished.

One may perhaps get temporary relief from stomach troubles by using peppermint, or some other digestant, but this treatment has no curative effect. It does not reach the seat of the trouble and remove the cause.

How much better to use Mi-o-na, which restores lost functions of the whole digestive system, revives flagging nutrition, and aids in the assimilation of food.

Mi-o-na is a pleasant remedy to use, and benefits are seen from almost the first day's treatment. It restores the torpid glands and stimulates the natural digestive secretions. It checks fermentation, stops germ growth, soothes inflammation, and cures all troubles, such as headaches, backaches, rheumatic pains, flatulency, tongue, sleeplessness, nervousness, and general debility, which are caused by imperfect digestion.

It is the only remedy that is so uniformly successful in the cure of stomach diseases that Noyes Drug Store are willing to give a guarantee. Every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na tablets that the remedy will cost nothing unless it cures. They have so much faith in Mi-o-na that they are willing to take all the risk.

Childhood's Days at Hogan Pond.

When I was a child little "Hogan Pond" used to be the limit of loneliness but it held unlimited fish; when you got there. That was the fish; to get there. We rowed up river, past the meadows with the choke cherry lined shores; then along the mouth of a muddy, tortuous brook; through a swamp, pulling ourselves along by the overhanging alders and woodbine, but ever creeping inland, until suddenly we came out into the solitary, wood-enveloped, steel-blue waters of "Hogan," and how a sailboat would cut up and down there, it was more fun than sliding down hill, though much like it. For though the run was short—only two miles, or less, you could tack back and then race for it again.

"Hogan" had many redeeming features; there were other ways of getting to it. There was an old road that followed the windings of the river and snake envolved brook 'till it came to an end in the dooryard of a dilapidated old house, surrounded by a rustic fence. Some near-by, decaying sheds were weakly striving to brace up one another inside the fence, in some long-forgotten day, there had been a flower garden. One sweet summer day my little chum, Polly, and I ran away from school to find strawberries; but found instead, sweet-briar roses, jackspruce, catnip and budding tiger lilies in this forlorn old garden. Be sure we looked in the little field back of the house, for strawberries, but we found only a monster water snake as the reward of our search, which I valiantly fought while Polly flew hither and yon, in great excitement, trying to find a club with which to dispatch him. I can see her now; red ringlets clinging to her redder cheeks as she came tripping and stumbling back to me dragging a fence picket, and crying breathlessly, "Is he gone?"

"No," I said. "He hasn't moved. I could watch him all day if he was only striped and pretty; but my! Isn't he nasty looking!" "Give me the club." How we maled and belabored him; while he stood his ground and looked ugly. We beat him out finally; on the principle, I suppose, that "Them that knows nothin' fears nothin'"; as aunt Sally S. used to say.

The sun was growing hotter; we had lost our appetites for strawberries, because "if there was one snake there must be more." The old house stood invitingly open; of course we entered; opened all of the doors; tiptoed over the dusty floors; peeped into the funny old corner cup-boards, climbed a ladder to see what was "up attic"; looked down cellar. Go down? Not much. Our curiosity ended at the cellar stairs.

Our next find was a well-beaten but bush-grown path to "Hogan." A beautiful, sandy beach! We waded into the water up to our armpits; until the water lifted us off our feet, when we ran giggling to shore; took off our dresses and petticoats, hung them on the bushes to dry, while we dashed in the water-side making sand cakes, lakes and rivers. Polly was somewhat afraid of the water and well she might be, for only a few weeks before I had given her a rather unique experience. We were much given to holding open air, preaching services. One warm, May morning we were conducting a service in "Uncle Sim's" pasture, among some pools of back water left in the grassy hollows by the receding river freshet. We suddenly concluded a baptism would be just the thing to properly conclude that service. As usual, Pretty Polly was the victim. I my zeal to have my part of the performance flawless, I slipped on the green grass, and though I hastily dragged Polly to shore, she thrust her throat so full of water and frugs' eggs, that between them, her coughing and laughter, she brought on a serious nose bleed, that added much to the interest of the occasion. Polly's nose was so swollen a drawback to our fun.

So Polly soon tired of playing in "Hogan." Hunger is no respecter of age. Tots of nine and seven years, with healthy stomachs find that so. So in the hot sun of late dinner time we wandered outside to our mothers, where their mothers—they did not spank us, but fed us, dosed our poor little sun-blistered bodies, and put us to bed for the rest of the day.

Another way to "Hogan" was to go straight through the woods at the foot of Hogan Hill, by way of an enchanting old lumber yard, grass-grown and flower-bordered, to a clearing surrounding some old wood choppers' camps and stables. Mystery of mysteries! What was there in them? Bears most likely. Big patches of luscious blackberries grew all about these Elton Chadbourne camps, and an old woods road trailed on down the slope and ended in a thicket at the shore of "Hogan."

There was still another way to "Hogan." On the top of Hogan Hill you turned into the cross-road that took you by "the little red school house," down through some grand, old maple woods; by Aunt Prince's, the Andrew Staples' and Morey farms into the neighborhood of "Rabbit Valley," and you came to a long, white, sandy, pebbly beach, and though it was the very feet of him, it was the loveliest "Hogan" of them all. I do not hear "Hogan" mentioned now-a-days. I often wonder if the Caldwell cottages and the boys' summer camp are on the shore of "Hogan." But only Echo accers, "I do not know."

County Politics and Probable Republican Nominees.

It came to the ADVERTISER some months ago that at the March term of the Supreme Court, which is now in session, the Republican County ticket would be given its finishing touches, so to speak. Accordingly a survey of the field and an interview with those who have control lead us to these conclusions and we give it for what it is worth for the benefit and guidance of our readers.

There is this year to be nominated in the county convention, a senator, clerk of the courts, register of deeds for both the Eastern and Western Districts, sheriff, county attorney, county commissioner and county treasurer. The terms of the clerk and registers of deeds are for four years, commissioner six years, and the others two years.

The senator question was practically settled when Walter Gray, esq., of South Paris, who had been appointed a U. S. bankruptcy official which retired him from senatorial aspirations, and Henry H. Hastings, esq., of Bethel announced his candidacy. John Reed, esq., immediately withdrew from the contest. Mr. Hastings' record in the last legislature made him such a strong candidate before the rank and file of his party that his leaders even in the Androscoggin valley have been so inclined found it practically useless to run any one against him.

It was announced last summer that J. R. Hill of Brownfield would be a candidate for senator but it is probable now under existing conditions that his name will not be presented to the convention.

Charles F. Whitman of Norway has no opposition to the nomination of clerk. One has only to keep his eyes and ears open during a session of the court to note how faithfully his duties are performed and how much the attorneys, officers and jurymen rely upon him and the confidence the judge reposes in him. Undoubtedly he is one of the best clerks the county ever had.

The two registers of deeds are J. Hastings Bean and E. E. Ballard and are popular with all classes and there will be no opposition to their re-nomination. They are faithful to a fault in the discharge of their duties and none have performed them better.

The sheriff matter is somewhat in the air, but it isn't probable that there will be any contest in the convention. It is said that Hiram R. Hubbard of Paris Hill was invited over to Rumford Falls, at the last probate court held there, and induced to announce himself as a candidate, which he did soon after. The friends of Wm. J. Wheeler of South Paris, who are numerous and strong in South Paris and Norway, would be much pleased to have him nominated but whether he will allow his name to be used is not yet decided. His friends say that no more efficient officer could be selected. No other names are mentioned in connection with the nomination.

All the arts of the politicians cannot prevent a contest on the commissioner, which will be the interesting feature of the Republican county convention. It is a three cornered fight. The candidates are Willis W. Waite of Dixfield, W. E. Eastman of Sumner and Adelbert Delano of Canton. Mr. Delano is lately come into the contest, with a view as he states to those who ask about his candidacy to hold the balance of power till one of the others "is chewed up" by his antagonist, whose he hopes to get that one's strength and with his own to carry off the nomination. Mr. Delano is for-man of the first jury this term.

The prosecuting officer of the county is one not calculated to be very popular, as the old couplet indicates:
"No one is felt the halber draw
With much respect for the law."
The term is of two years and C. P. Barnes of Norway is now serving his first term and is entitled by party usage to a re-nomination. There is no candidate against him.

George M. Atwood of Paris has served as county treasurer for many years. His books are neatly kept and his management and accuracy. There is no opposition to his re-nomination as far as we can see, as there is no one in the county who can do the work so well and acceptably to the public as Mr. Atwood, and we feel the office is his for life or "during continuance of good behavior."

County Republican Committee.

The Republican committee for Oxford county met at the court house and organized by the choice of Dr. H. L. Bartlett of Norway as chairman and H. C. Dunton of Rumford Falls secretary. To fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Joseph F. Stearns of Lovell since the committee was chosen at the last county convention, G. W. Walker of Lovell was chosen. The surviving members of the committee were all present except Mr. Dunton, who was detained at home by illness. It was decided to ask Hon. John P. Swasey to preside at the county convention, but the date for the convention is not yet fixed.

The members of the County committee are:

Dr. H. L. Bartlett, Norway.
H. C. Dunton, Rumford Falls.
Charles H. Prince, Rockfield.
B. A. Swasey, West Paris.
N. F. Brown, Bethel.
F. H. Bartlett, East Stoneham.
G. W. Walker, Lovell.

On Trial For A Life.
carrier. Described his route usually last the David Varney place, usually arrived at the post-office at about 4.30 p. m. He met Herman Gilman very near the place where Gilman testified. Saw Bert Fox near the door of the Fox place. As he was going down the Ansel Alley road he heard the report of a fire arms and his horse jumped. Did not pay much attention to it at the time. Reached the post-office at 4.25 that night. Was driving at the rate of about three miles an hour.
Sarah Day was called to the witness stand. The principal questions and answers were as follows:
"How old are you?"
"Seventy-six this month the second day."
"In what town is your home?"
"Porter."
"Did you live with David Varney?"
"Almost six years."
"Who else was in the family?"
"No one except some company that came in."
"Did David have a shot gun?"
"No, I guess not. I never see one."
"For the last year or so how much has David Varney lived there?"
"I guess about one half the time."
"How much was Wesley Chick there at your place?"
"He came there to work some—a little—and sometimes called when he did not help."
"Did Chick board with you when he was there to work?"
"Yes, sir."
Wesley Chick helped get some wood and occasionally helped at other work on the farm. Mr. Varney and Mrs. Sarah Day lived on the farm and only when they had hired help or company. "Did he sell his yoke of cattle?"
"Yes, sir."
"How much did he get for them?"
"$100."
"Did you see the money?"
"David showed me two bills."
She didn't mind the color of bills but said one was a $50 bill. Showed bills to her same day he sold cattle. Varney carried the money with him. Mrs. Day sewed pockets into the inside of two of his shirts and it is supposed that he kept the money there. A checked shirt was shown to her and when asked if this was one of the shirts that she had sewed a pocket into, replied that she didn't know if that was one of them or not. A cap was shown and she could not swear if that was the cap David Varney wore or not.
Wesley Chick had been to the Varney place, on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, at different times before the murder was committed. On Wednesday, Dec. 5, until she saw him in court.
Mr. Varney started to the barn about 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, and about 10 minutes afterward Mrs. Day went to the barn with a pan of milk and leaves to feed her pig, when she found Varney lying on the floor. She put her hand on his face thinking he had had a shock and speaking to him received no answer. She ran out of doors and screamed for Mr. Fox, who lives across the road.
When asked if the shirt shown her was the one that David wore, she replied that "He had one on like it, if that isn't the one."
Mr. Fox came over at once and Mrs. Day went into the house for pillows. Fox placed his hand under Varney's head to raise it and discovered blood. He went back to his house and summoned a doctor that was there at the time and returning they carried Mr. Varney into the house.
Bertrand G. Fox, the neighbor's testimony was in the main similar to Mrs. Day's.
Wednesday afternoon the court house was packed, mostly with ladies.
Bertrand Fox recalled. Had seen a man down the road about 8 o'clock and going down the road could see no one. Stated that Mr. Varney did not have a shot gun. It was about 20 rods from his house to the Varney barn.
The size of flooring timber of the barn was about 2x4 inches. The door that went from the tie-up into the barn floor is about two feet. The height of the boarding between the pig pen and tie-up is about three feet. There were shot marks in the door post but he did not see any shot dug out.
The man whom he saw was down the road towards Kezar Falls village about 50 yards from him. There might have been a dozen people visited the Varney place the night of the murder.
Dr. Frank G. Devereaux of Kezar Falls has practised in that vicinity for about 26 years. Called at Bert Fox's house on Wednesday afternoon and heard the alarm given by Mrs. Day. After Mr. Fox left the house he was looking out of the window and saw Mr. Fox coming, shouting "doctor." Should say about five minutes after Mr. Fox had left his house.
Found Mr. Varney lying on the floor, arms at side, face flushed, heavy breathing and frothing at the mouth. His coat was thrown wide open. Removed him to the house and after removing the hunting jacket, put him on the bed, clipped the hair on the back of his head and got some hot water and washed his head. discovered small punctures and taking a small instrument he pulled from these places shot and did up the wound as best he could. Varney had a very good head of hair, 3 or 4 inches long. Wound extended in a space 6 inches long and 4 inches wide to the right of the back of the head. After he got through went out to the barn and found about a pint of blood on the floor.
The doctor stated that the shirt shown him was the one worn by Varney. Varney did not recover consciousness to his knowledge. Performed the autopsy with Dr. F. F. Bradbury of Norway at Kezar Falls. The autopsy revealed 43 holes in the scalp. On removing the skin between that and the bone found about 2 ounces of brain substance, some shot and a large ragged hole, oozing from this was blood and brain substance. On removing the skull found a part of the brain and the lower part of the wound was bedded shot and bone. Five inches above this wound was found a stray shot. About 3/4 the brain had been destroyed by the shot.
Examined other portions of the body. Found his heart in good condition and his vital organs were in good condition. It is his opinion that that shot wound caused the death of the man.
The shot was double B. Learned where he kept money but did not hunt for it. A search was made for it on the body and Mrs. Day put her hand in the pocket in the shirt but found no money.

Wesley came to store of Bachelier about 6 o'clock on Wednesday night and inquired if he had any revolvers in stock, and was told that he did not. Later he purchased 10 cents worth of cheap cigars and gave a $5 bill in payment, also showed a roll of bills. When in the store about five minutes. Saw Chick eight minutes later in the store of Mr. Stanley. Chick had on his old clothes.
Cross examination. His store is about 100 yards from the end of covered bridge. Did not consider at the time that it was uncommon for him to have money. Did not see him have any such sum as he had at this time at any previous time.
O. L. Stanley of Kezar Falls is postmaster at Kezar Falls and in dry goods business. Known Wesley Chick for five or six years. Has been a customer at the store, sometimes buying $10 or $12 worth of goods. Tuesday, from 2 to 2.30 p. m., before the murder, bought an outfit of clothing amounting to $10.15. Left the goods at store and said he came away from home not expecting to come to store, and that he would call at the store the next day and get them and pay for them. He returned the next day at about five minutes of 4 and paid for them and purchased a suit of clothes at $10 and brown hat, and a few other articles. Total of the two purchases was $22.45. He gave a $20, $2 and $1 bill in payment. Chick inquired for a lady's skirt, a ring, etc., but not being suited he did not purchase.
O. L. Stanley called to the witness stand again Thursday morning by the State. Stated that he should think that it was about 6.15 Wednesday night when Chick was at his store. County attorney presented two boxes to the witness requesting the examination of them and their contents. He could identify the two shoe boxes, the ladies' shoes were the size and style sold Chick. Gloves, rubbers, handkerchief and hose were also shown. This evidence was objected to by James Wright but Attorney Barnes explained that these goods were found at a particular place and the court admitted the evidence.
Cross examined. Should say that Chick was in his store about 20 minutes. Mr. Chick had never purchased goods of him before and asked to have them laid aside to pay for them later, but had purchased clothes of him before and paid for them. Were others in the store before he left. Noticed that he had been shaved and had a hair cut. Had on the same suit Wednesday, as he had on when at the store Tuesday.
Frank H. Brooks of Porter lives near Kezar Falls and saw Chick on the day of the murder about 6.30 p. m. on the Porter village road near the covered bridge. When he met Wesley he spoke to him, says "Is that you, Wes?" He made an answer, could not remember what. Mr. Brooks asked him what about David and he replied to that, but witness did not want to state exactly what he said. Think he said, "Why, what?" No further conversation. Heard Wesley say something about David being shot. Wesley was asked, "He is shot, didn't you know it?" To the best of his belief the answer was negative. Later Wesley said he was going up there.
Cross examined. The time was about 6.30, met Chick very near the dam in the river about 1 mile to Kezar Falls from the house. Chick had some bundles. Remained standing talking with him a very short time.

obtaining lumber from Maxim upon the representation of having money in Massachusetts. He purchased the lumber of Maxim and was unable to pay for it. He was bound over to the October term and being unable to furnish bonds has been in the county jail ever since. Jas. S. Wright for defendant claimed that he had received all the punishment necessary, having been confined in jail about six months. He was bound over to the October term and discharged.
Court Notes.
Wednesday afternoon, Mar. 14, Fred B. Merrill esq., of Bethel, who had passed the State board of bar examiners, was admitted to Oxford County bar. Wesley Chick was not at court last Friday. The oath was administered by Clerk C. F. Whitman. Mr. Merrill has read law in the office of Herriek & Park, at Bethel, and has taken the course in the Harvard Law school.

Nothing attracts the ladies like a murder trial and those of Oxford county are no exception. They attended in numbers. Many of them making a day of it.
Stillman Chick and wife, the parents of Wesley Chick, are boarding at C. H. Sessions through court time, also Mrs. Sarah Day, the aged mother of Mrs. Chick, and sister of David Varney. They were interviewed by a member of the associated press last Friday. He tried to get their consent to be photographed but could not. He succeeded in getting a picture of Mrs. Day, however.
About thirty people from Kezar Falls, and vicinity, were called to Par. last Monday, on account of the Chick case.
A Norway lady attended court last Wednesday, and was greatly surprised that she could not speak with her husband, at even a recess time. He was serving on the jury.
There were more reporters at the court house during the murder case than have been there for several years. Among those we noticed were: Miss Fogg of the Lewiston Journal, Harry Swan of the Lewiston Sun, Harry Packard for the Boston Post and Associated Press, Ralph I. Trask for the Boston American, Merton Kimball for the Boston Herald and A. E. Forbes of the Oxford Democrat.
Those acquainted with County Attorney C. P. Barnes, of Norway, are not surprised at the ability he displays in presenting the evidence in the Chick-Varney murder case now on trial. Such cases are usually handled by the Attorney General of the State or his assistant, but this is one where the County Attorney does the work and the assistant and State's Attorney, W. C. Philbrook, of Waterville, sits by his side very much as a spectator would. Mr. Barnes made a very able opening address to the jury and is presenting the evidence much to the surprise of those unacquainted with him.

A New Steam Roller
In the streets of Norway would not cause much more talk than is being made about the Masagrade Ball tomorrow evening. That there will be a large attendance is beyond doubt, and that there will be a large number in costume and masks is proven by the large number of masks reported and the great demand for reserved seats. The management has completed all necessary arrangements to make this the most enjoyable event of the season.
As there has been a slight misunderstanding it would be well to state that those who do not care to mask will be permitted to dance if they wish before the masks are removed, during the second number. This is because of the general opinion that it would be more satisfactory.
It is the intention to give as little time to the grand march as possible, and so pass the dance orders before the march, thus giving more time to the dancing.
The floor will be in charge of Priv. Walter C. Leavitt, assisted by a competent corps of sides who will do all in their power to further the enjoyment of the guests. The music will be new and of the best, and should please. The ante-room at the right of the stage has been assigned to the gentlemen who wish to make up at the hall. The ladies' room will be as usual be the one on the right of the entrance.
The doors will be opened at seven o'clock and the march will be started at eight o'clock or as near thereafter as possible.

Wesley Chick
Wesley Chick helped get some wood and occasionally helped at other work on the farm. Mr. Varney and Mrs. Sarah Day lived on the farm and only when they had hired help or company. "Did he sell his yoke of cattle?"
"Yes, sir."
"How much did he get for them?"
"$100."
"Did you see the money?"
"David showed me two bills."
She didn't mind the color of bills but said one was a $50 bill. Showed bills to her same day he sold cattle. Varney carried the money with him. Mrs. Day sewed pockets into the inside of two of his shirts and it is supposed that he kept the money there. A checked shirt was shown to her and when asked if this was one of the shirts that she had sewed a pocket into, replied that she didn't know if that was one of them or not. A cap was shown and she could not swear if that was the cap David Varney wore or not.
Wesley Chick had been to the Varney place, on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, at different times before the murder was committed. On Wednesday, Dec. 5, until she saw him in court.
Mr. Varney started to the barn about 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, and about 10 minutes afterward Mrs. Day went to the barn with a pan of milk and leaves to feed her pig, when she found Varney lying on the floor. She put her hand on his face thinking he had had a shock and speaking to him received no answer. She ran out of doors and screamed for Mr. Fox, who lives across the road.
When asked if the shirt shown her was the one that David wore, she replied that "He had one on like it, if that isn't the one."
Mr. Fox came over at once and Mrs. Day went into the house for pillows. Fox placed his hand under Varney's head to raise it and discovered blood. He went back to his house and summoned a doctor that was there at the time and returning they carried Mr. Varney into the house.
Bertrand G. Fox, the neighbor's testimony was in the main similar to Mrs. Day's.
Wednesday afternoon the court house was packed, mostly with ladies.
Bertrand Fox recalled. Had seen a man down the road about 8 o'clock and going down the road could see no one. Stated that Mr. Varney did not have a shot gun. It was about 20 rods from his house to the Varney barn.
The size of flooring timber of the barn was about 2x4 inches. The door that went from the tie-up into the barn floor is about two feet. The height of the boarding between the pig pen and tie-up is about three feet. There were shot marks in the door post but he did not see any shot dug out.
The man whom he saw was down the road towards Kezar Falls village about 50 yards from him. There might have been a dozen people visited the Varney place the night of the murder.
Dr. Frank G. Devereaux of Kezar Falls has practised in that vicinity for about 26 years. Called at Bert Fox's house on Wednesday afternoon and heard the alarm given by Mrs. Day. After Mr. Fox left the house he was looking out of the window and saw Mr. Fox coming, shouting "doctor." Should say about five minutes after Mr. Fox had left his house.
Found Mr. Varney lying on the floor, arms at side, face flushed, heavy breathing and frothing at the mouth. His coat was thrown wide open. Removed him to the house and after removing the hunting jacket, put him on the bed, clipped the hair on the back of his head and got some hot water and washed his head. discovered small punctures and taking a small instrument he pulled from these places shot and did up the wound as best he could. Varney had a very good head of hair, 3 or 4 inches long. Wound extended in a space 6 inches long and 4 inches wide to the right of the back of the head. After he got through went out to the barn and found about a pint of blood on the floor.
The doctor stated that the shirt shown him was the one worn by Varney. Varney did not recover consciousness to his knowledge. Performed the autopsy with Dr. F. F. Bradbury of Norway at Kezar Falls. The autopsy revealed 43 holes in the scalp. On removing the skin between that and the bone found about 2 ounces of brain substance, some shot and a large ragged hole, oozing from this was blood and brain substance. On removing the skull found a part of the brain and the lower part of the wound was bedded shot and bone. Five inches above this wound was found a stray shot. About 3/4 the brain had been destroyed by the shot.
Examined other portions of the body. Found his heart in good condition and his vital organs were in good condition. It is his opinion that that shot wound caused the death of the man.
The shot was double B. Learned where he kept money but did not hunt for it. A search was made for it on the body and Mrs. Day put her hand in the pocket in the shirt but found no money.

Nothing attracts the ladies like a murder trial and those of Oxford county are no exception. They attended in numbers. Many of them making a day of it.
Stillman Chick and wife, the parents of Wesley Chick, are boarding at C. H. Sessions through court time, also Mrs. Sarah Day, the aged mother of Mrs. Chick, and sister of David Varney. They were interviewed by a member of the associated press last Friday. He tried to get their consent to be photographed but could not. He succeeded in getting a picture of Mrs. Day, however.
About thirty people from Kezar Falls, and vicinity, were called to Par. last Monday, on account of the Chick case.
A Norway lady attended court last Wednesday, and was greatly surprised that she could not speak with her husband, at even a recess time. He was serving on the jury.
There were more reporters at the court house during the murder case than have been there for several years. Among those we noticed were: Miss Fogg of the Lewiston Journal, Harry Swan of the Lewiston Sun, Harry Packard for the Boston Post and Associated Press, Ralph I. Trask for the Boston American, Merton Kimball for the Boston Herald and A. E. Forbes of the Oxford Democrat.
Those acquainted with County Attorney C. P. Barnes, of Norway, are not surprised at the ability he displays in presenting the evidence in the Chick-Varney murder case now on trial. Such cases are usually handled by the Attorney General of the State or his assistant, but this is one where the County Attorney does the work and the assistant and State's Attorney, W. C. Philbrook, of Waterville, sits by his side very much as a spectator would. Mr. Barnes made a very able opening address to the jury and is presenting the evidence much to the surprise of those unacquainted with him.
Elizabeth Murray of Norway has been visiting relatives in Massachusetts.
The Maine Telephone and Telegraph Company has bought the entire system of the Eastern Telephone. This company of course includes the Norway exchange. This company is practically under the same control as the Eastern.
